

Once more, I want to wholeheartedly thank all the volunteers of the Global Embassy of Activists for Peace, who are altruistically working with all the projects of the GEAP.

We will continue onward persevering for peace; because peace is more than a desire: it is a necessity; and together we can contribute so it is strengthened in every field in which the human being interacts.

This month, November, we began the 12th Marathon of the project “Life is in the Blood,” with the slogan: Give the gift of love: Donate blood.

We have set a goal of 80,000 effective units of safe blood, and we trust that with effort and as one team we can achieve and surpass this objective.

Onward, onward, onward, success is guaranteed!

And always remember: We are part of the best team in the world.

I also thank you for your support of the megaproject of The Great Tent Cathedral construction, and it is the desire of all of us to soon see it finished.

For today, we have a video that summarizes the progress in this building that is being carried out here in Cayey, Puerto Rico.

Proceed with the video.

Sunday, November 4, 2018
Cayey, Puerto Rico

Good morning, beloved friends and brethren present here in Cayey, Puerto Rico, and all those gathered in different countries and connected via satellite or internet.

May the blessings of the eternal God, the Angel of the Covenant, be upon all of you and upon me as well; and on this morning, may He open the Scriptures to us and the understanding to comprehend them.

It is a great blessing and privilege for me to be with you today, Sunday, November 4, 2018, to share some moments of fellowship around the Word of God and His Program relevant to this end time in which we are living.

I want to extend a very special greeting to Dr. Miguel Bermudez Marin, international missionary, who is in Cali, Colombia today; and Reverend Mauricio Vivas and the congregation gathered there in Cali, Colombia; and also to Reverend Jose Benjamin Perez and the congregation here in Cayey, Puerto Rico; and to all the ministers with their congregation in the different countries.
